Adopting a publication scheme is a requirement of the Freedom of Information Act 2000. This Act promotes greater openness and accountability across the public sector by requiring all 'public authorities' to make information available pro-actively, through a publication scheme.

'Public authorities' are defined in the Act and include universities, general further education colleges and sixth form colleges.

Derwen College is a Registered Charity, and operates primarily under Charity legislation. It is not therefore a public authority. However, it does receive public funds and therefore addresses any requests for information on a case by case basis. It aims to be as transparent as possible in its operation and governance.

A publication scheme is a document, which describes the information a public authority publishes, or intends to publish.
