In advance of each academic year, Derwen College updates its annual schedule of communications with parents/ carers. This sets out all the ways in which the College will communicate formally with parents/ carers. The current version is at Appendix 1.

The following statement explains Derwen College's approach to more informal communication.

Excerpt from the annual Parents/Carers Communications Schedule

As a Further Education College all our students are on a journey to adulthood, an essential part of their learning is to develop increased independence and self-reliance and our approach to college communication with parents/carers reflects this. Once on programme, our students have a wide range of support available to them about every aspect of college life including help to contact home if they need this.

The College provides termly updates to all parents/carers, in line with this schedule, in this way you will be kept well-informed about your young person's progress.

We don't routinely plan, or anticipate the need for, additional contact over and above this schedule, however, we do appreciate that parents/carers may wish to get in touch regarding a specific issue from time to time. In these circumstances we ask that parents/carers are considerate of college staff time and availability, given that, as you would expect, the focus of our staff rotas and timetables is on working directly with students.

We trust that, as parents/carers, you understand and will support us in this approach.

Permissions

Excerpt from parent/carer handbook:

Mental Capacity Act 2005 and transition to adulthood

While staff at College always aim to work in partnership with parents and key people in the student's life, families should be aware that once a student has reached the age of 18, specific pieces of legislation become applicable. In line with the Mental Capacity Act 2005, it is always assumed that a student has capacity unless it is proven otherwise. We cannot share personal information with a parent without the student's permission (General Data Protection Regulations) and this includes both education and healthcare information.

Derwen College staff are experienced in supporting students and their families through this transition and will always be happy to offer advice and information.

Handovers, and other informal contacts

There will be informal contacts made between staff and parents/carers throughout each student's time at Derwen, for example handover when a residential student is being dropped off at the beginning of a new term/ half term. These handovers are very useful for both parties, to ensure that the party assuming responsibility for the student has all the necessary information. It is helpful to back up a verbal handover with an email if possible.

What Derwen College expects of its staff

Derwen College staff are asked to always treat parents/carers and others with respect and courtesy.

What Derwen College asks of parents/carers

Parents and carers are asked to treat Derwen College staff with reciprocal respect and courtesy at all times.

Zero tolerance of inappropriate communication or conduct

If any staff member feels that they are being treated inappropriately by a parent/carer or other third party, senior management have authorised them to end the contact, and to promptly inform their line manager of the situation.

If parents/carers are dissatisfied

If a parent/carer is not satisfied with an aspect of College provision, or the response that they have received. they should ask for it to be passed to a member of staff on the next level of seniority. The Complaints Policy and Procedure document is available on the Derwen College website should parents/carers need to refer to it. This lays out how to raise a complaint and how the College deals with them.

See appendix 1, overleaf.
